A VIGOROUS ORDER.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Joslyn is the right man in the right place, judging from his peremptory refusal to debate the matter of their remaining, even temporarily, in Indian Territory, with the Oklahoma settlers. He proves that he has backbone, knows crime when he sees it, and has the courage to punish it. More rascality, thievery and murder have been masked under the name ettler" than the people realize. A few ars ago matters had reached such alpass that to seize upon another's possessions, and raise the flag of settlerism, was deemed an exhibition of patriotism-something to command the admiration and inspire the respect of all men, as well as enlist the sympathy of the whole people. The honest settler who goes upon land with color of right, and under the protection of the laws, is not to be classed with the gang that infest all border countries, and of which Ok-Iahoma Payne and his followers are fair pirates. They propose to seize upon the ful owners are weak. The United States Government, under the terms of a solemn compact, granted certain lands to Indian tribes, and laid out the metes and bounds beyond question of dispute. Church Social.—A social was given in the basement of the A. M. E. Church Seventh street, between G and H, Tuesday evening, for the purpose of raising money to pay the balance of the salary of their pastor, the Rev. J. R. Dorsey, whose term expires this month. An impromptu pro gramme was made, as follows: First— singing by the young ladies of the church Second—recitation, "Over the Hill From the Poor House," by Mrs. B. A. Johnson. Third—reading, "Peri at the Gate of Paradise," by B. A. Johnson. At the conclu sion the ladies of the church and their friends surprised their minister, the Rev. J R. Dorsey, who has been their pastor for seven years, by presenting him with a beautiful gold watch and chain. The pre-sentation was made by Miss B. M. Jones, in a very neat speech, and responded their hands. Happy remarks were in-dulged by the Rev. Fielden Smithe. After the presentation, all were invited to par take of a collation prepared for the occa , where there was a bountiful supply of all the delicacies of the season, and which was served under the management of Mrs.

State Board of Equalization, some days since, wrote the Boards of Supervisors of a that they had examined the assessupon the assessment rolls, and pro o increase the entire assessment of the county, for the purpose of making the assessments conform to the true value. value of the taxable property of the sev-eral counties in the State for the purpose of miform taxation. They set a date upon which they would consider all objection which may be made to such increase, a their office in the State Capitol. A delega tion from Solano, and also one from Nevada county, were present vesterday. They claim that their property is assessed in ac cordance with law, and should not be in creased. In speaking of this matter the Woodland Democrat says: "The time appointed by the State Board of Equalization to hear objections from the Board of Super visors and other citizens of Yolo county t een postponed from Wednesday, the 27th, to Friday, the 29th. The matter here proposed by the State Board is a subject of importance to every property-holder of the county, and we trust many citizens Board of Supervisors will go to Sacramente on Friday next and render what support they can to our local Board, who hold to the belief that the assessment values are high enough already.

A GRAND CIRCUS FESTIVAL .- Cole's mamnoth circus exhibited yesterday in Woodland, and arrives by special train in this city this morning. The grand street parade will take place at 9 o'clock. A performance will be given at Agricultural Park in the afternoon, and another in the evening. This is said to be one of the greatest entertainments to which the people of this country have ever been treated. It is complete, and for extent and variety they claim surpasses anything ever seen beneath a canvas. Mr. Cole, whose word is as good as his bond, promises that his patrons will see everything in the ring just as they are represented on paper. All is novelty; every act, and there are sixty of them, is start-ling. In the three rings and on the elerated stage, there will be leaping, tumbling, bareback riding, ceiling walking by the human fly, aerial bicycling, roller skating, trapeze performances, acrobatic evolutions, performing Arabs, Turks, Moors and Egyptians, besides dozens of other festiviies of more or less extraordinary merit. In the menagerie 100 cages of wild animals are to be seen, besides numerous trained animals in the exhibition arena. Among he menagerie novelties are the sacred white elephant, a white hippopotamus from the Nile, Samson, the largest Asiatic eleseveral other astonishing attractions. Cole's is undoubtedly the best show on the road, press and public uniting in so declaring it.

Nobody should miss seeing it. The clerks in the State Controller's office have been working at the books and accounts for many weeks and still have not completed their labors. Burns left here some weeks ago for Mexico, where he has some mining interests. He frequently talked with his friends regarding the matter, and with his friends regarding the matter, and with his friends regarding the matter, and with his proposed trip to Reno, and calling of selling eye-glasses. Howett induced him to join the Association. It was understood that of the moneys received for annual dues the surplus, after paying the running expenses of the office, was to be divided between the Directors as their salaries. Megerle, as President, got 10 cents each for signing certificates, and about $50 per month was divided between witness, Henderson, Megerle, Amsden, Welch and Howett. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO.

WHY?

Now that we are about to enter on the tenth year of our business in Sacramento, and to signalize the same by moving into greatly enlarged salesrooms, it is worth while stopping to sum up some of the general principles and advantages which collectively make this business different from any other on the coast. Furthermore, to point out to those who do not trade here the reasons upon which rests the trade of those who are customers.

RELATIVE TO GOODS.

- 1. The consumer brought into almost direct contact with the producer. 2. A trade large enough to justify the careful buying on our part of each
- 3. A trade which knows no such thing as "bad debts," and which is so
- large as to afford the smallest rate of profit. 4. Three buyers in the Eastern and Western markets.
- 5. Largest variety and conveniences of supplying so many wants under one roof. Over seventy-five different lines of goods kept.

RELATIVE TO PRINCIPLES.

- 1. All customers placed upon exactly the same footing as regards the
- price of goods and faithfulness of our service. 2. Only reliable qualities of goods sold. No misrepresentation.
- 3. Money returned for goods not as represented.
- 4. All goods marked in plain figures, and exact change made on every
- 5. The lowering of prices the moment a change in the market, or the buying in larger quantities enables us to do so.

RELATIVE TO CUSTOMERS' INTERESTS

FROM THE ABOVE IT FOLLOWS:

- 1. That the interests of every customer are protected and overcharges
- 2. A business like this cannot be undersold. If so, it would not continue to enjoy for a day the largest trade.
- 3. Where trade is most active goods are freshest. No one ever looks for new goods where trade is sluggish.
- 4. Prices in all lines of goods must be lowest, because the prices in all departments are apt to be judged by the prices in any one or two departments.

The above principles are all actively enforced and never deviated from. Collectively they answer the question often asked, Why do so many people trade at this establishment, and why is its sphere of usefulness constantly increasing?
